IT MAKES NO DRUNKARDS,
Breaks no Hearts,
Excuses no Crimes
Dr David Kennedy's FAVORITE REMEDY, is not a disguised enemy of the human race where it cannot help, it does not harm FAVORITE REMEDY is a combination of vegetable alteratives It does not heat nor inflame the blood, but cools and purifies it. In all cases of Kidney troubles, Liver complaints Constipation of the Bowels, and the delicate derangements which afflict women, the action of FAVORITE REMEDY is beyond praise Thousands of grateful people voluntarily testify to this, in letters to Dr Kennedy, and with a warmth and fullness of words which mere business documents and certificates never possess. It makes no drunkards—excuses no crimes—breaks no hearts In its coming there is hope and in its wings there is healing We challenge a trial and are confident of the result ONE DOLLAR A BOTTLE, Eo member FAVORITE REMEDY Dr David Kennedy Rondout, New York

NEWS AND OTHER ITEMS

At a recent marriage, the bride was a young damsel who had been a great flirt When the clergyman asked the usual question, 'Who gives this woman away?' a young fellow present exclaimed 'I can, but I wdn't'

If men and women would only rise every morning with the firm purpose to live better than they did the day before, and every day take a step forward by the experience of the past and the help of the ever present spirit how few would fail in life's duties, or become unworthy of its rewards

It was a Sound boat and the mate was evidently annoyed about something 'Carry it forward,' he roared, 'carry it forward you lunk-headed son of a sculpin, or I hope to be gee-whizzled gaul dusted to judge if I don't maul the dad slammed head off'n ye with a capstan bar, you hog-backed mollygrubber, ye!' And the deck hand looked up in profound admiration, and said, 'By George, Cap if I had your culcher I wouldn't be a runnin a mate for no man in these waters, I'd be commandin' a boat of my own

RICH'S BLESSING

Bless the Old Maids! God bless every one of them Not through them came the robbing of orchards or hen-roosts, the cats owe none of their miseries the birds owe not the loss of their eggs or their young to them That worthless girl, who lives but for show, and to hinder some luckless fellow-creature, cannot be laid to an old maid, nor can the wretched bloat which like a toad, haunts the door step of the common groedry suggesting the presence of something besides sugar and molasses in the store The wives who drive men distracted, the husbands who, in one way or another, (the quickest way is the kindest,) murder their wives, never came of old maids, nor did the silly dandies, nor the selfish bachelors, who, instead of taking care each of them, of one of these best of women swallow down or smoke up, what would hand comely support her, complaining meanwhile to pull wool over the eyes of the virtuous people who see good opinion it may be for their interest to return, that they are too poor to afford the luxury of a home and a wife Gammon! they know that they are liars, and that lying is as good as the rest of their doings, but no old maid ever was to blame about afflicting the world with them No, no And the positive merits of that blessed class of our fellow creatures are too numerous to mention Without them, no man can say what would become of the rest of human beings My wife couldn't live a week were it not for an old maid or two that she keeps in business She is nearly frightened out of her wits when a suspicion crosses her mind that any beau of a man is looking often at them She is always saying, "I should give up if Nancy or Betsey should marry! What she would 'give up I have never imagined, but I don't doubt that she meant her life I am nowhere beside these two blessed old maids I don't blame her nor in the least They can help her more in a day than I ever could in a week, and I know they are ten times as agreeable as I know how to be In fact, I value them as much as my wife does, and I am ready to take up the—revolver, I guess is as handy as anything—against any man who dares to open his mouth about the earth's most harmless, innocent, useful and admirable inhabitants, good old maids RICH

EATING FRUIT The earlier in the day fruits are eaten the better They should be ripe, fresh and perfect, and if eaten in their natural state, it is almost impossible to take too much Their healthiest qualities depend on their ripe acidity but if sweetened with sugar the acidity is only neutralized, but the stomach is tempted to receive more than it can digest, and if cream is taken with them the labor of digestion is increased No liquid of any kind should be drank within an hour after eating fruits, nor should anything else be eaten within three or four hours—thus time being allowed for them to pass out of the stomach, the system derives from them all their cooling and aperient influence The great rule is, eat fruits and berries while fresh ripe and perfect, in their natural state, without eating or drinking anything for at least two hours afterward With these restrictions, fruits may be eaten in moderation during the day and without getting tired of them, during the whole season.

GOING TO MEETING I see them walking, as they used, across the green fields to the meeting-house, which stood on a hill a mile away from my grandfather's, clad in their long kept variously-made holiday garments—a quaint procession! There are samples of shawls and dresses preserved by me in memory from my grandfather's fellow-worshipers, every thread of whose real texture has been eaten away. I know just how they were worn Old Dame H had a soft, silky, crimson shawl which she drew closely over her shoulders, and pinned three times down the front The pins seemed never to vary a thread, and year after year her sharp shoulders rubbed at its warp and woof until it grew stringy and streaked. There were coats and cloaks and dresses, so far removed from any suggestion of mode that their strangeness of make, joined with the richness of fabric, gave dignity to them, and the men and women who wore them were the authors of a true style. Old Squire S. never put aside his plaid coat lined with green baize His sons and daughters went away from the homestead, and came back richly clad in the world's fashions. That made no difference to him. He walked up the church aisle, year after year, in front of the gayest of them, with his old plaid, which wrapped him about like a tartar, and through the singing of psalms and prayers and the benediction he stood, with the green baize flung over his shoulders, unconscious that there was anything queer or old-fashioned about him. There was nothing old-fashioned. He was a splendid old man, erect, proud, with a broad, white brow, and a grand record for brain work in all the courts The old cloak had become a kind of toga, invested by him with the worth of long association, and so had grown to be invaluably a part of himself.—Very Truly and Bijou

A YOUNG FARMER'S LETTER.

I am just fifteen years old and have saved up $000 I want to tell the boys and girls among your readers how I have done it When I was ten years, father gave me four ewe lambs that were left without a mother, and said I might have them and then increase for five years and then he would see about further arrangement I got $8 for the wool next season and they all had ewe lambs, making eight sheep At the close of the second year The wool brought me $15 that year and the increase left me with fifteen sheep This was stocking the farm pretty heavy father said, but he didn't object I sold the next year twenty-eight sheep and my wool money with interest makes $80 I sold five fat lambs for $10 which makes $100, and I have father's note for that The sheep I sold father for $ 0 making $ 0 Three years ago father gave me a calf, which I sold last year for $30 I have father's note for that That makes $180 Four years ago father gave me a colt and it turned out to be a splendid horse I father sold him in Pittsburg the other day for $300 and gave me his note for that That makes $180 I planted and raised two acres of corn, all alone last year, and cleared $40 on it but $20 of it I took to buy a new suit, leaving me altogether $ 00 The other day father took all the notes I had and gave me one note for $ 00 at ten per cent interest So you see it brings me $90 a year Some boys may say 'Your father gave it all to you you didn't make it' That is true partly, but I made the most of my chances Father says he might as well have given it in one way as another and thinks this way will do the most good He says he don't see but what he is as well off as though he hadn't given me anything It will be six years yet before I am twenty one, and I want to have a thousand dollars to start on, and I think I can make it.

The Vote for Governor.

The most remarkable phase of the recent remarkable election is the fact that a total vote reaching the unprecedented number of 147,341 has been so nearly divided between the leading candidates for Governor that it has been impossible to tell a week after the election which had the most, while the correction of the usual errors in transmitting the figures is sufficient to swing the plurality pendulum to the one side or the other.

A very contemptible phase of the matter has been the eagerness with which the Fusionists have howled "fraud" whenever the footings of returns received indicated a Republican plurality, while they have instantly regarded the figures as entirely honest so soon as they indicated a slight advantage for the Fusionists.

We publish tables giving the vote as compiled from the clerks' returns from the whole State except the plantations of Cyr, Eagle Lake, Sheridan, St. Francis, Van Buren, Wade and Wallagrass, which are unofficially reported as giving 89 Republican and 353 Fusion votes. The tables we print give Davis 73,479, Plaisted 73,389, scattering 473. This shows a plurality of 90 for Davis which would be changed by the 264 unofficial majority in the above-named plantations to 174 plurality for Plaisted. It is obvious, however, that so close a vote in so large a total is liable to be affected by many slight discrepancies, so that only the final and minutely careful official canvass can absolutely determine which candidate leads.

In his reference to the clerks' returns the Associated Press Agent unintentionally conveys the erroneous impression that the returns on which his figures are based are those which the Legislature will canvass. The fact is that the returns now counted are duplicates furnished by the town officers and there is a liability to clerical discrepancies between them and the sealed returns that go to the Legislature.

There has also been a considerable amount of errors in the names of candidates, and where the result is so close, only the most careful comparison and verification of the returns from each town and plantation can make certain.

A WARNING TO REPUBLICANS.

A Washington despatch to the New York Tribune says Among the native Union men of the South the brothers Hamilton, of Texas, were among the boldest, truest and most persistent. Ex-Senator M. C Hamilton, who visited Washington a short time since, talked with friends in regard to the real situation at the South. To one of these he said "You of the North are the most unseeing men in the world You accept the loyal professions of the Southern leaders as genuine and made in good faith; you are utterly deceived, not a man of them has changed his principles. Their change is in means and tactics alone If by the aid of Northern Democrats they can secure the control of the Government, and manage about as they would have governed the Confederacy had they succeeded, they will be loyal and remain in the Union If they cannot they will rebel again, and as old as you are you will probably live to see it. You and your people of the North are short-sighted and blind in this matter to an extent that is perfectly amazing "

This statement he repeated to his counsel and others several times, and was much depressed over what he regarded the outlook for the future to be

THAT LIQUOR BILL.

Alderman D. F. Kelleher prints a card in the Commercial in which he denounces the Delaney bill for "liquors on election day" as "bogus" and a "forgery." He did not denounce it as a forgery when he called at our office yesterday, but while he declared that he had not paid any such bill, he admitted that Delaney had demanded payment of him for some thirty or so dollars worth of liquor furnished "on election day," but that he would not pay it. The receipted bill as picked up and handed to us is at our office and will speak for itself as to its genuineness or "forgery." The text is as follows

To John H. Delaney,
for liquor on election day on the order of
D. F. KELLEHER, Dr. $47 60
JOHN H. DELANEY.

[From the Kennebec Journal.]

THE FOURTH DISTRICT.

The most stirring and plucky fight made in the State was that by Capt. Boutelle in the 4th district. Though he did not gain an election he made a large gain over the result in the last Congressional fight, in 1878. The WHIG AND COURIER of yesterday publishes nearly the complete vote of the district, and says: "The footings show that of the increase of 4,235 in the total vote Capt. Boutelle has gained more than 3,100 over the Republican vote of 1878, with a net gain of over two thousand, wiping out THREE-FOURTHS of Ladd's 2,826 majority of two years ago.

The figures also show that outside of the French settlements of the Madawaska region Ladd has been beaten at the polls and is in a minority, in spite of the lavish use of Democratic corruption money, without which the fusion candidate would have been beaten out of sight.

There is reason to believe that systematic fusion frauds in addition to bribery have been perpetrated throughout the district the exposure of which will be likely to dispose of the small remnant of Ladd's former majority which is made to appear by the returns."

It was a gallant fight, and the district is to be commiserated that it did not exchange the present incompetent representative for so able and energetic a man as Capt. Boutelle would have proved in Congress, had he been elected.

[From the Port and Press]

One of the most grievous features of the election is the defeat of Capt. Boutelle and Mr. Milliken, in the Fourth and Fifth Districts. Capt. Boutelle is an earnest, vigorous, able and uncompromising Republican, who would have had an excellent tonic influence in Congress. He made a gallant fight against overwhelming odds and went down only with the rest of the ticket. He is young and strong and has lots more of good fight in him. They cannot long keep him under. It is strange, too, that the voters of the Fifth District, having two such men as Milliken and Murch before them, should choose the latter. It is a curious illustration of the overmastering influence of party prejudice and passion for everybody must see that Mr. Milliken would in all respects be the more valuable representative for the District His brightness, ready eloquence and experience of public affairs would have made him influential at Washington. It is a shame to lose the services of such men especially when we see what is substituted for them.

[From the Lewiston Journal]

The Bangor WHIG publishes the vote for Representative to Congress in that District (except five towns), which give Ladd 13,805, Boutelle 13,187, Ladd's majority 618 Two years ago Ladd had 2826 majority. Republican gain 2208. Captain Boutelle has made a splendid campaign, and is entitled to the thanks of every Republican.

MR BARNUM IN THE WRONG

The circular issued from the National Democratic Headquarters, and signed by William H. Barnum, contains scarcely a single statement that is not false and several that are not only deliberate and wilful lies, but very foolish lies, because they can be easily exposed and conclusively refuted.

For instance, in a circular dated on the 17th inst. Mr. Barnum says that "the latest "reliable and official returns received from "Maine give returns from 428 towns." On the morning of that day the papers of this city placed before Mr. Barnum the returns from 481 towns This untruth is for the purpose of supporting a charge that Republicans were keeping back returns, and then he asserts "It was only when the "Republican manipulators have stopped "the returns coming in, and delayed them "until they could be altered, that changes "were made in favor of Davis" Each day's despatches published last week prove that this assertion is deliberately untrue. For:

I The very first despatches received from Maine, and published here on the morning after the election, show Republican gains in many towns, notably in Augusta, Auburn, Lewiston, Skowhegan and Rockland. Androscoggin County complete was reported that morning with a Republican gain.

II The highest gain reported at any time for the Fusionists was about 700 on the very night of the election, when 153 towns were in, and 418 of that gain was in Portland alone But the last despatch of that same night, giving returns from 215 towns, showed a Fusion gain of only 460, so that the 62 later towns returned a Republican gain of about 240. Not even Mr Barnum will have the assurance to claim that returns received on the very evening of the election were "delayed until they "could be altered"

The whole charge that returns have been stopped or unusually delayed this year, by accident or design, is utterly false, is known to be false by Mr. Barnum, and is easily disproved by the records The published despatches in the daily papers of 1878, 1879 and 1880, suffice to convict Mr Barnum of falsehood The number of towns from which returns had been received, up to the date of the latest despatches each night during the week following these three elections is shown as follows:

	1878	1879	1880
Monday night,	150	209	215
Tuesday night,	22	A few more	1
Wed'day night,	No despatch	237	405
Thurs. night,	No despatch	376	461
Friday night	No despatch	No despatch	430

In 1878 it was not until Monday night, one week after the election, that the returns received embraced "all but a few "small towns and plantations," or 476 towns. In 1879 it was not until Monday night, a week after the election, that the returns were received from 479 towns. But on Friday night, three days earlier, the despatches this year gave returns from 490 out of the 498 towns in the State. So much for Mr. Barnum's broadest and most impudent untruth. The facts prove that the returns were not delayed at all, but sent forward with haste and promptness absolutely unprecedented.

Mr. Barnum asserts again that "the en- "tire machinery for counting the vote is "in the hands of the Republican returning "board." But he knows that this is a naked falsehood, for the votes in each town are counted in public, in the presence of voters, by the officials of the town. In Democratic or Greenback towns the Fusionists had these officials and made the count themselves, in the presence of as many voters as saw fit to remain for that purpose. This Mr. Barnum knows, because the very same system has long prevailed in his own State, Connecticut. But he tells this falsehood because, without it, his whole claim of fraud would be utterly refuted by one fact which he admits in the very same circular, namely: "The only "gains shown by the Republican party "are in Democratic counties inaccessible by "telegraph. * * The Republican gain "is obtained in Democratic counties." Now the Democratic towns elect Democratic officials, and they make the count, and if there were any frauds in the count in Democratic towns, then they were perpetrated by Democrats themselves to cheat their own party! Not even Mr. Barnum has assurance enough to pretend this.

When a great national party turns over its affairs to be managed by a flagrant liar and infamous corruptionist, it is about time for decent men to get out of it in haste. Mr. Barnum was long ago notorious as a "buyer of mules" in his own State, and he made himself notorious in a wider field by his mule-buying despatch to Indiana. Now he sees fit to pose himself before the country. Doubtless, his party is proud of him.

SICK AGAIN!

Plaisted got sick again in Portland yesterday, when they wanted him to talk to the Greenback Convention.

Matters looking squally, the great chieftain hung out his yellow hospital flag and climbed his tree.

The howlers for the Hancock and English Electoral ticket will find the following, published in the Newark Campaign Press, Sept. 17, to be "good easy reading"

"The Weaver Club of Elizabeth sent the following despatch to General Plaisted
ELIZABETH, N. J., Sept 14, 1880
Governor PLAISTED, Bangor, Me
Accept congratulations of Weaver Club. Are you not for Weaver and Chambers?
B W. TERLINDE, Sec'y of Club.
The following despatch was received in reply
B W. TERLINDE, Secretary Weaver Club, Elizabeth, N J.
Thanks for your congratulations. Yours for Weaver and Chambers.
H. M. PLAISTED."

The Washington Star reports Gen. Plaisted as saying that there will be but one electoral ticket in Maine opposing the Republicans, and that will be the one now named, that after the magnificent support which the Democrats have given him he should deem it a breach of faith on the part of the Greenbackers to nominate a separate electoral ticket, and would feel called upon to disown it by taking the stump for Hancock. This is respectfully referred to Mr. James B. Weaver, the Republican go-between —Boston Post.

Capt. Boutelle yesterday received official notification that he has been elected to represent Maine in the National Republican Club Committee chosen at the Convention in Indianapolis Sept. 16 The Committee will meet at Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 28, and will call on General Garfield at his residence near that city.

As the Commercial has so much eulogy for the "self respecting Republicans who "cut Boutelle's name from their tickets," why does it not print a list of their names? We shall be pleased to copy and give it the benefit of our circulation.

Special Notices.

BOLT OF SOLON AND HIS FRIENDS

A Straight Greenback Electoral Ticket.

Stormy Speeches by Ladd, Murch Fogg and Others

PORTLAND Sept 21 The Greenback State Committee met this morning and called Samuel A Berry, of Deering, to the chairman and Benj Bunker, of Fairfield secretary

The convention met in Congress Hall, at 10 o'clock S A Berry called it to order and called Chas C White of Gardiner to the chair He denounced General Garcelon said that an understanding existed to divide the electoral ticket and urged the carrying out of the arrangement Rev Alvah Stroutfollowed prayer A G Plumm of Washington county, and John Hobson Jr, of Newport, were elected secretaries The State committee was made a committee on credentials

The temporary organization was made permanent Four hundred and sixty five delegates were reported from 400 towns

I D Hobson, of Wiscasset presented resolutions endorsing the action of the State Committee in recommending a fusion with the Democrats

John B Chase, of Cape Elizabeth, in a great excitement protested

Elliot King moved to accept the resolutions and to name joint electors

Solon Chase made a motion to amend by nominating 7 straight Greenbackers He was received with applause and hisses He made an appeal for a fair hearing and argued against fusion There were thousands of Greenbackers in the State who voted the rest of the ticket with Plaisted who will no vote for Fusion electors. He protested against giving away the future of the Greenback party for four Weaver electors If was the Greenback candidate a split form that carried the State

John Benson Jr of Newport made a long speech in favor of fusion Outside of Maine there is no chance for Weaver to get votes The straight Greenback ticket was elected by Solon Chase and Republicans I have voted for Plaisted without a pledge now give them the Electors as an act of justice

Rev Alvah Strout of Bradford denounced the Republican and advocated fusion

H M Plaisted of Lincoln, favored fusion

Hon King of Portland had been warned to speak for fusion unless he wanted to be exposed He challenged exposure Solon Chase was acting with the Republicans and his editorials were Republican capital

W W Perry of Camden, made a wild speech in which he denounced Chase and declared in tones that Democrats in town had been hired by Republicans and they would be driven from the party

Murch of Lincoln followed in favor of fusion Moved the previous quest on Fogg moved the motion to fuse was adopted by a vote

R M Springer editor of the New Era of Lewiston protested that the new vote was without precedent

H M Fogg of Auburn tried to speak but was interrupted by Springer who made a point of order He doubted the correctness of the action of the State Committee at the Law and Order meeting recommending fusion It was read and debate ruled out of order The resolution presented by Mr Hobson was read again as follows

That we regard the election of General Harris M Plaisted to the office of Governor by a vote unprecedented in the history of the State, and the re-election of our Representatives in Congress is an unquestionable endorsement of our principles by the people of Maine and we feel assured that when party prejudice shall no longer control our Republican brethren that we shall show an overwhelming majority in favor of national principles which will be responded to by every State in the Union

That the action of the State Committee in recommending an arrangement with the Democratic party for the State and Presidential election was expedient

The National Greenback party of the State of Maine, in convention assembled hereby endorses that action and agrees to support at the Presidential election Solon Chase and Samuel Watts as candidates for electors at large and John F Turner Jeremy Bunker, Chas R Whidden, William A Cromwell and John P Donworth, as candidates for District electors as recommended by the committee

Springer demanded the right to vote. The vote was taken and the resolution adopted A large number of delegates voted nay Devine and Whitefield tried to unite all factions in the convention

Andrews of Augusta, called for Congressman Murch, who was received with cheers Murch believed every Greenbacker knew his opposition to Fusion in the past, believed the Democratic party to be governed by high, patriotic motives, returned thanks to the Democrats for supporting him, the question is shall seven Garfield or three Hancock and four Weaver Electors be chosen, he was free to say he preferred the latter, wanted to see the Republican party annihilated warmly eulogized Solon Chase, believed he would fall into line, believed Fogg and Anderson legally elected denounced Blaine as a known corruptor of public morals by the use of money in elections, Blaine had left the State and the Republican party is a dock without a bell weather, believed every Greenbacker in the hall was eager to wipe out the Republicans, asked the minority in the convention not to bolt denounced the financial legislation of the Republican party for it he asked Blaine to be condemned and convicted, he in Portland City Hall endorsed Garcelon, he believed the Supreme Court intended Republicans to count out Democrats and not Democrats Republicans, denounced the Supreme Court, the sole regret he had was that the Pessimists did not have votes enough to elect the Legislature and to impeach every Judge, charged the Republican party with forgery, and predicted a Fusion victory by 10 000 majority

Solon Chase spoke with great emotion and commenced "I thank Thee O Lord that I came before Thee on my own book" He feared he was at the funeral of the Rag Baby, almost felt that he must return to the plow left in the furrow five years ago, he wanted to consult with his friends

Pierce, of Augusta, implored Chase to throw half a vote for Weaver and half a vote for Hancock Chase and his friends were not the Greenback party, but a faction Eulogized Congressman Ladd, would like to see a whole Congress of Democrats like him

Mr Berris, of Turner, offered the following resolution

Resolved, That it is not the province of the state committee of this party to dictate in advance the policy of the party, and in the future it is our wish that no such attempt be made

He supported the resolution in a long and excited speech Great excitement followed Fogg of Auburn, denounced the resolution as an insult to the State committee

Rev W F Eaton, of Cape Elizabeth, late Fusion candidate for Senator, spoke of the Democratic leaders as being no more friends to the Greenbackers than were the Republicans. What can Hancock do, if elected, for Greenback principles? What can Democrats do as a party? Where is fusion to end? Himself and friends had been denounced, forced down, insulted at the Cumberland county convention and at the Congressional Convention in the First District He proposed to act with free hands and would act honestly, God helping him. The speech made a great impression

Benson moved to lay Ferris' resolution on the table. Carried The vote being doubted, it was again taken and carried. The opposition vote was not put.

Congressman Ladd said Hancock represented the opposition to a strong government, called the opposition to Greenbackers in Congress hounds, threw everything one side for success, and so change the policy of the Government as to stay

A motion to adjourn, put amid cries of "Plaisted," was not carried

John M. Todd, of Portland, said any one wanting to leave could, and announced that Pla sted was sick and couldn't speak

A motion was made to give Solon Chase and his friends half an hour to speak

Todd said, "for God's sake, ain't we all his friends?"

Great excitement Solon Chase made an appeal for time to see his friends "We won't do any harm, do let us consult" A motion made to adjourn was carried amid great excitement and anger

Meeting of the Straight Greenbackers

PORTLAND, Sept 21 At adjournment of the Congress Hall convention the straight Greenbackers met at City Hall, Solon Chase presiding, R M Springer, Secretary. A straight ticket was nominated Solon Chase, Chase's Mills, J F Turner Portland, C R Whidden, Calais, J F Hilton, St Albans, Thomas G Burdin, Turner, G W Wooster North Bangor, E B Frye, Bethel Seventy three delegates voted The whole anti-Fusion strength claimed was 140 in the Congress Hall convention The Straight Greenbackers adopted the following

For the enlightenment and encouragement of our Greenback brethren in other States we, the Straight Greenbackers of Maine, in convention assembled declare that there is a Greenback party in Maine pledged to the interest of the whole people that the late fusion and confusion in this State was wholly due to the exigencies of State issues, and that in National matters we vote with our brethren elsewhere in the Union, for Weaver and Chambers

AN UNWELCOME VISITOR A horse owned by Mr. Daniel Garland created quite a sensation on Main street last evening The animal started somewhere on Union street and went down in Pickering Square, then came up on Main street minus a carriage. He proceeded down the street at full speed until he arrived opposite the crockery store of J. S. Ricker & Co., when he wheeled around and walked into the store as cool as you please. The clerks were rather astonished as well as dismayed at this unexpected visitor, particularly as the animal tramped the entire length of the store, regardless of the frail articles of crockery which surrounded him on all sides. Strange as it may seem, however, the horse was captured and led from the store without doing any damage.

THE GRAND MENAN FIRE During the fire which raged in the forests of Grand Menan, prior to the recent heavy rains, a constant watch was kept night and day by the inhabitants whose dwellings were in danger and their escape from destruction was solely owing to the light wind which prevailed during the eight or ten days of the fire, as a strong northwest or west wind would have swept many of the settlements When the wind changed it fortunately came from the northeast, which drove the fire back over the burnt district and towards the water, sweeping over the high cliffs to the water in some instances It is a severe loss to the Island, though considerable of the standing timber will be saved next winter to cut The fire originated by two boys burning out a hornet's nest

A WHOLE FAMILY ETHERIZED Mr Edward Deering has lately kept a fish market in Gorham and has also been in the habit of making large collections of money which he kept in his house His bed room is on the ground floor, and the window, close at hand to the bed, looks out upon the street One night recently he had several hundred dollars in the room, and it is supposed that this fact must have been known to outside parties Mr Deering with his wife and child retired early and were soon fast asleep How long he slept he cannot exactly tell, but he awoke with a start full of a nervous tremor and feeling very badly about the head He attempted to arise but accomplished his object only with great difficulty Finally he managed to reach the door force it open get to the front door and inhale the fresh air After a little while he began to feel better, and he then noticed a strong odor of ether He hastened back to the room and with difficulty awoke his wife and child, who were both under the influence of the anesthetic After they came to they were very sick The room was saturated with the smell of ether. Investigation revealed the fact that the window had been lifted a few inches and a hole torn in the mosquito screen, through which probably a sponge fastened to the end of a stick had been inserted, after it had been saturated with ether The other end of the stick was probably held by a man standing on the sidewalk, who intended when the victims were thoroughly etherized, to enter the room and secure the money Mr Deering's waking prob ably defeated the scheme, which was a daring one

THE COAL TRADE. During the past week, says the Philadelphia North American of Saturday, high freights have operated as much as anything else to keep the coal market dull Vessels have been more too plenty and those that were here went at $1 50 to Boston and some held off for $1 65 which they found had been paid by some parties with coal that must be delivered soon Most of the large ship owners have preferred to wait until there was either more tonnage or some of the captains had been starved out The current rates are as follows To Portland $1 20, Saco, $1 50 towing and discharging Portsmouth $1 30 Boston, $1 30 to $1 40, New Bedford, $1 35, Fall River, $1 30, Providence, $1 20 to $1 40, New York 75c and 80c, Baltimore 60c, Washington 85 to 90c Norfolk 75c Richmond 75c Charleston $1 20 No one complains at all of the trade It is evident that the production even at full time is not going to run ahead of the demand and a steady trade, at current rates may be looked for through the coming month, if no further increase in prices is made The Lehigh Valley has advanced its tolls to Delaware 10 cents making them $1 40 a ton The retailers have not been very active this week, and the eastern dealers have been waiting for such an advance in freights as would enable them to put the price up another 50 cents a ton This is quite likely to be the case early in the coming month The shipments cannot be kept up to 600 000 tons a week, and it is apparent that we shall close the year with a production from 2 000 000 to 2 500 000 tons less than that of last year, which will leave the market bare of coal, and do away with the necessity of any further suspensions

THE WRECK OF THE CAROLINE EDDY.

The Story of Captain Warren of Maine

Captain George W Warren, of the lost brig Caroline Eddy, has arrived in New York and gives the following account

Our brig was owned by A P Veazie & Co, of Bangor Maine She left Fernandina, Florida on Friday, August 27th, bound for Philadelphia with lumber There were seven souls on board—James T Worgent, mate, George W. Chipman, steward, George P Brown, Frederick Hansen, John Scott and August Olsen members of the crew, and myself On Saturday morning the weather was what you might call nasty. About noon we passed the Vera Cruz, carrying fore and aft sails and heading south by east She looked in trim and shipshape, and I remember remarking to the mate "If I had that steamer I wouldn't be afraid of going on the Florida coast to night" We lost sight of her about 4 P M. We were on the port tack heading southeast

At midnight I gave orders to shorten sail. The wind was not blowing particularly heavy, but it was baffling from east to northeast and the sea was running very high We were in latitude 29 2o with about 2o fathoms of water under us It wasn't very far from this place that we were wrecked for a big sea struck us at 3 A M and we had not been making more than three or four knots an hour since midnight We had furled all sail except the mainstaysail with bonnet off and all hands were on deck She struck us right in the eye and never stopped until she reached the other end of the brig It was as sea like a mountain It stove in the bulkhead sweep off the top of the forward house, broke the main boom and mainyard ripped off the sky light from the after house and passed over our stern taking both boats and the davits, together with the wheel I was steering at the time but I dropped down and fell to leeward When I picked myself up out of the lee scuppers I supposed I was the only man aboard the Caroline Eddy, but I found all the rest of them had managed somehow to get out of the way—how, I don't know any more than I know how I got out of the way myself As soon as the sea cleared away we made for the pumps, but found that they were all covered up with the wreck of the main boom and part of the deck load I set part of the crew to clearing the pumps and having nailed some canvass over the skylight, took the steward and one of the crew down to the cabin to bail water, for the cabin was flooded Suddenly we noticed that the brig was listing to starboard and at the same time we heard the mate sing out to us to come on deck for she was going over We were too slow in getting to the gangway but when we got there we found that the mate had nailed the boards over the gangway so tight and so close together that we couldn't get out I tell you, it made us sweat, for we could feel the brig listing all the time We had to burst the boards up through and we did When we got on deck she was going over I jumped and let go the main staysail halliards and by the time I got back to the main rigging she was nearly flat on her starboard side, her mast heads being about fifteen feet from the water Getting a chance to look around me I found that all the crew were close by banging on as best they could to the main rigging We knew the old brig wouldn't go down with her belly full of Florida timber but we couldn't tell how soon we'd be washed off

Presently she began to right herself having swung round till she got the wind and sea under her masts As she straightened up the mate crawled up over the mast head cut away the main top-mast which was hanging and came down on the starboard rigging When she was fairly righted the sea nearly to the level of the upper deck There was a good chance now of her going over the port side so we all sh fted and crawled over into the opposite rigging a task which was not easy considering that the sea was making clear breaches over us Just as we got into the rigging an enormous sea swept over her clearing the decks of everything that had remained We stayed in that rigging from about 4 o clock Sunday morning until o clock Monday afternoon The brig, we knew would keep right side up as he was sunk so low but there was no telling how long the mats would stand in her No we did not have anything to eat nor any chance to sleep either Well at 5 o clock on Monday morning we made land under the ice about five miles distant The main boom was lying across the chasm—I suppose you would call it—which showed where the house had been before It was washed away with its fittings resting on the taffrail The mate shinned across this sort of natural bridge and rove off the tackles and passed the falls to me and I made them fast to the main rigging Then we let go the halliards of the main staysail but the sail wound up around the mainstay and I was obliged to send a man up to clear it He fell to the deck and was nearly drowned Then we abandoned all efforts to run the brig ashore and lashed ourselves in the rigging for another night's rest

At midnight the brig struck bottom She struck broadside on but swung around bow on It was too dark to see anything but we knew by the running of the sea that we were on an outer reef We clung to the rigging while she pounded in over the reef, and at daybreak we saw that we were not more than a quarter of a mile distant from a beach upon which we made out through the spray and mist, a number of people They had no boats at hand, and the sea was running very high The brig had happened to drive in at high tide and having pounded her keel out settled quietly down as the tide began to ebb, so that we were presently able to leave the rigging and get upon the main deck Four of us could swim, but George Worgent, the mate, Chipman the steward, and August Olsen could not swim a stroke At 10 o clock Hanson volunteered to make an effort to reach the shore and get help We watched him go on the top of a big wave and saw that he had been caught in a swift current and was being swept northward along the line of the beach, directly in the lush of the breakers He was a strong swimmer, however, and succeeded in reaching the beach, about a mile to the north of us Encouraged by Hanson's success, George Brown and John Scott also swam ashore The tide had meantime reached the end of the ebb, and we saw that there was danger of the brig's going to pieces at high water We therefore made a raft by lashing a bit of hard pine scantling across a piece of the main boom, and upon this the mate steward and seaman who could not swim, set themselves adrift I never thought they would reach the shore alive for the raft was under water half the time. Hanson, Brown and Scott however, swam part way out to meet them, and they finally reached the shore I then thought it was time I was getting to land myself so I jumped over and went for it We found that we had landed at Matanzas Inlet We were met by Mr. Darius Alden who had a summer hotel near by, and who took care of us over night and the next day sent us as far as St Augustine The cargo of the vessel was sold at St Augustine for $435 and the wreck for $110
